“The sole purpose of one’s existence is to breathe and bring a smile on other’s faces”

All the legendary individuals are remembered for their good deeds and benevolent acts. However it must be noted that they were all happy themselves and hence they could pass that light to others. Besmirching at the value of being happy in life is a choice, just as being happy is. But making others happy, by being there for them is a decision.

Such achievers are amidst us who contribute to their growth and the betterment of the society. Digest has a clear vision in bringing these unnoticed legends to the spotlight and applaud for their contributions. As an editor I invite all of the readers to send us your contributions and achievements to us. We will blow the trumpets for you.
