INTERESTING ENGINEERING

Of all the physical constraints that dictate our cityscapes, perhaps the most counterintuitive is the elevator cable. Very long standard cables become too heavy to haul, a limitation that restricts the height of buildings. But UltraRope, a new cable with a carbon-fiber core and high-friction coating, could double elevator heights to 3,280 feet. UltraRope weighs 80 percent less than a standard cable, with no loss in strength, and designers are already using it to build higher than ever; with UltraRope, the elevator shafts in the new Kingdom Tower in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia, will reach a record 2,165 feet. The lighter material also helps new buildings reduce energy consumption by up to 45 percent

The Troubles because of yawning, Learn The Reasons

Filling the lungs with yawning air, opening the mouth and breathing deeply is an involuntary process. Often we get overdue due to fatigue or sleepiness. But not every wake seems to be good either. Yawning is not a bad thing, but there can be many reasons for yawning.

Cardiovascular

complaints

Heart disease is a broad term that covers many problems and conditions related to the heart. Too much yawning can be a heart complaint. In the case of oxygen deficiency in the body, it takes a lot of effort to pump blood. This increases the risk of a heart attack.

Tension

Stress is a condition that triggers a particular biological reaction. When you understand danger or major challenge, your body has chemicals and hormones to grow. If you have more stress, you may yawn too much. As the stress increases, the brain temperature increases and yawning occurs. During this process, we get a good amount of oxygen, which cools the brain.

Thyroid

Hypothyroidism occurs when your body does not produce enough thyroid hormones. Hypothyroidism, also known as underactive thyroid or low thyroid, is a disorder of the endocrine system in which the thyroid gland does not produce enough thyroid hormone. Repeated yawning can be caused by the

HOW DO BEES MAKE HONEY?

The bees collect nectar from flowers and place it into their own honey stomach (a storage sac). They vomit the nectar full of enzymes (released in their stomach) in the honeycomb cell. After the cell is filled with nectar, the bees fan the honeycomb till it evaporates, then they seal the cell. The final chemical reaction that takes place during the evaporation converts the nectar into honey.

Sula

Toni Morrison

This rich and moving novel traces the lives of two black heroines from their close-knit childhood in a small Ohio town, through their sharply divergent paths of womanhood, to their ultimate confrontation and reconciliation.

Nel Wright has chosen to stay in the place where she was born, to marry, raise a family, and become a pillar of the black community. Sula Peace has rejected the life Nel has embraced, escaping to college, and submerging herself in city life. When she returns to her roots, it is as a rebel and a wanton seductress. Eventually, both women must face the consequences of their choices. Together, they create an unforgettable portrait of what it means and costs to be a black woman in America.
